今をさかのぼること十八百年前、

我々が知る歴史とはまた違う、もうひとつの幻想古代中国。

あなたの美意識が断崖を削っていた戦乱の時代。

それに逆らうように、ただひとり「深紅の武者」として、

清濁を断く勇士を倒し民を守ろうとする若者が居た。

陰謀の罠——絆・鉄基亮孔明と放浪の旅をする彼は

この戦乱の世を渡る唯一の男だった!

漢部そるいのキャラクターが繰り出す

全く新しい「三国志」の、皇々の覇業!

This manga is very loosely based on the classic Chinese novel "The Romance of the Three Kingdoms" or the classic Chinese drama series for the same title. But if you've watched the finale of the recent year's war-torn Japanese cinema, you have a lot of major characters appearing in this chapter.

Guo Han (Koyuki) / Minamoto no Yoritomo
Zhuo Di (Shi'ao) / Minamoto no Yoritomo
Zhuo Di (Shi'ao) / Minamoto no Yoritomo

The Chinese series is particularly one "style novel" sort of the romance. Some characters like Koyuki are usually called by their style name. For the first Chinese series for the Three Kingdoms, it's the 1st of the series, and the second "Imperial Seal" edition of the "Romance of the Three Kingdoms" because that's what the English translation of the novel was.

All the characters are based on real people who lived about 2000 years ago. But if you don't want to read that long history book, go play Dynasty Warriors. About that's what this game is for the right now.

The Three Kingdoms Period

A Period of Chaos

The Han Dynasty had ruled China for over 400 years, but internal corruption led to its fall in 220 AD. Lu Bu attempted to restore the Han, but China was already being divided by ambitious warlords from the Sun and Cao families. The Kingdom of Wei was ruled by the brilliant Cao Cao and leadership of his son to the young Cao Pi after the death of his father and brother. Lu Bu formed his own Kingdom of the Southwest allies, sometimes enemies, the Three Kingdoms and for control of the country...
